

Thirty-Third Annual Meeting

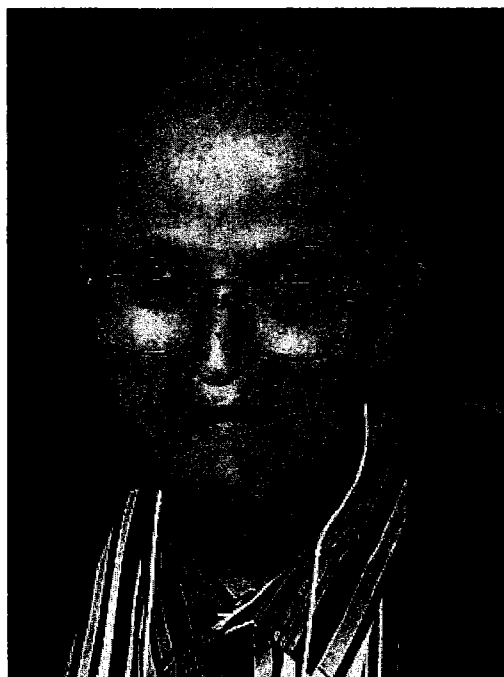

Association of Third World Studies

Quito, Ecuador
November 22-24, 2015

Theme: "Third World Political, Economic, Social, and Cultural Developments in the Era of Globalization"

Conference Venue: The conference will be held in the Hotel Dann Carlton in Quito. Guests staying at the hotel who book their rooms with Condor Travel receive a reduced room rate and a lavish buffet breakfast. Quito, the capital of Ecuador, is the highest capital city in the world. It is located on the eastern slopes of Pichincha, an active strato-volcano in the Andes Mountains. With 2.7 million people, it is the second most populous city in Ecuador, after Guayaquil. The historic center of Quito has one of the largest, least-altered, and best-preserved historic centers in the Americas. Quito, along with Kraków, were the first World Cultural Heritage Sites declared by UNESCO in 1978.

In Memoriam

Our beloved founder, Dr. Harold Isaacs, passed away peacefully at home on Friday, July 10, 2015 at 3 a.m. EST. He was laid to rest on Tuesday, July 14, 2015. Last October, he was diagnosed with pancreatic cancer, but he refused to allow the word to be spread so as not to “worry or trouble” others. Until a few days before he died, he was working on the Journal of Third World Studies, which he has edited since 1984, and was helping to coordinate plans for the next conference. He knew he would not be there for it, but he wanted everything to go on smoothly without him.

He was born in Newark, New Jersey on December 19, 1936. His father died when he was young, but his mother lived with Harry and his wife Doris for years. Both predeceased him, but he now rests between them at Riverside Cemetery in Albany, Georgia. Harry loved sports and even played football, basketball, and baseball in high school. As an adult he was an avid golfer. He earned his degrees in history at the University of Alabama-Tuscaloosa. He taught briefly at the University of Memphis before coming to Georgia Southwestern State, which he made his home. His focus was on Latin American history, especially Mexico, but he began to feel that there was a need to make Americans more aware of, and better informed about the peoples living in all of the Third World. In 1983, he founded the Association of Third World Studies. In 1984, he published the first Journal of Third World Studies, serving as its general editor until his death.

His greatest desire was for ATWS and JTWS to continue to flourish. We are the family of our founding father, Harold Isaacs, and we must honor his life by preserving his noble dream of a better world through knowledge and understanding, love and kindness.

Dr. Gary Kline, Georgia Southwestern State University

Issues Related to Altitude Adjustment

Quito is located at 2,850 meters (9,350 feet) above sea level. Sometimes just walking in high altitude environments can cause headache, nausea, insomnia, fatigue, and shortness of breath. Technically known as Acute Mountain Sickness (or Soroche in Spanish), these discomforts are triggered by air containing fewer oxygen molecules. Many travelers develop some of these discomforts within the first 12 hours of arrival. For that reason, it was suggested that conference participants arrive on Saturday 21 November to adjust to the higher altitude. Some foreigners purchase pills to help prevent or alleviate the negative symptoms. These pills are available in pharmacies and on the Internet. Most people in the Andes Mountains use coca leaf tea (or mate de coca in Spanish) to help prevent or alleviate the negative symptoms. Coca leaf tea is an infusion made using the leaves of the coca plant, which is native to South America. It is made either by submerging the coca leaves in hot water.

Here are a few simple steps that will also alleviate the discomfort associated with Soroche:

1. Drink plenty of water to help your body adjust easily to the higher altitude. You need about twice as much water as you would drink at home.
2. Monitor your alcohol intake. In thin air, a golf ball goes 10 percent farther and so do cocktails. Alcoholic drinks pack more of a wallop than at sea level.
3. Eat foods high in potassium such as bananas (which are quite plentiful in Ecuador), avocado, cantaloupe, chocolate, granola, dried fruit, and potatoes that will help you replenish electrolytes by balancing salt intake.
4. Watch your physical activity. The effects of exercise are more intense in Quito. If you feel shortness of breath or any other negative symptoms during any of the tours, please let a Condor Travel employee or the conference site coordinator know of your discomfort.
5. Dress in layers. People in Quito dress like an onion. Because Quito is closer to the sun, it can feel much warmer than the actual temperature during the daytime, but then become very chilly after sundown. During the day, it is recommended that participants use sun-screen and lip balm.

A monument and museum marking the general location of the equator is known locally as the Mitad del Mundo (the middle of the world) to avoid confusion since the term ecuador is Spanish for equator. The Mitad del Mundo is the venue for the Opening Reception. The six-hour excursion, which is included in the registration fee, also includes a tour of the Intiñan Museum and lunch. Neither alcoholic nor non-alcoholic drinks are included in the program, but may be purchased by participants. 4:00 p.m. – 6:00 p.m.

Michael Hall will lead an informal excursion to the Quito Teleférico, a gondola lift running from the edge of the city center up the east side of Pichincha Volcano to lookout Cruz Loma, which provides a magnificent view of Quito. It is one of the highest aerial lifts in the world, rising from 3,117 meters to 3,945 meters in eight minutes. At the summit there are restaurants, coffee bars, and stores. Due to the increased altitude and the wind on the mountain it is cooler than the city. The visitor center at the base includes an amusement park and restaurants. The cost for the excursion, paid by individual members on site, is approximately $8 for the gondola lift ticket and a few dollars for a shared taxi ride from the hotel. Interested people should assemble in the hotel lobby by 3:45 PM to arrange taxi transport to the base station. The gondola lift closes at 6:00 PM, but those interested may have dinner at the base station restaurants before returning to the hotel.
